MARION CENTER
JOINT HIGH SCHOOL

50 Years

East Mahoning Marion Center High School, Marion Center Joint High School, Marion Center Area High School — three changes in fifty years, but the name is not the only thing that has changed.

In 1916, Marion Center Borough, in conjunction with East Mahoning Township, established East Mahoning Marion Center Joint High School with Harry Crawford as the first principal. The first high school building was the present Marion Center Elementary building. There was no library, laboratory, nor locker rooms, just a combined enrollment of thirty-odd students. In 1917, the first graduating class had a grand total of two students.

From this meager beginning our school progressed to a two story brick building, which contained seven classrooms and a large gymnasium with accompanying locker room facilities. This building opened in the fall of 1929 and retained the name of East Mahoning Marion Center Joint High School. To the students, the then new building, was undoubtedly spacious and modern, but growing pains soon became apparent.

This affliction became so severe that in the fall of 1954, a new addition to the high school building was begun. In the fall of 1955, the Marion Center Joint High School was opened. It was a modern building with classrooms galore, a new cafeteria, a modern gym, a well-equipped shop, a vocational agriculture department, a large library and an extensive home economics section. Even this large renovation proved to be adequate for only a short while. In 1962, additional classrooms, including a new commercial department, a shop, and storage facilities were annexed to the building.

The most recent change was in name only. Under the School District Reorganization Act of 1963, effective July 1, 1966, the school assumed the title of Marion Center Area High School.

Although the halls have changed in appearance many times, the students have had one thing in common: Progress — fifty years of progress. Progress is evident in our advanced studies curriculum, our exchange student program, our enlarged fields of interscholastic competition, and in service to the community.

Jerry Shick, Tom McLaughlin, and Cliff Watson make use of the library on Monday night, while they work on their senior research papers.

Deadlines

Deadlines are constantly taking place at Marion Center High. Teachers rush to report grades while students hurry to finish that research paper on time. The Yellow Jacket and Centerama staffs must meet deadlines to produce their publications. Days of preparation go into a play or musical in order to meet the time of the performance — the deadline. Progress is met through our deadlines because during our race to meet them, we overcome mistakes and discover possibilities for change. Each time we meet a deadline we only find another one waiting for us as we progress.

Manifold Process

As an educational center, the school includes more than regular classes. Exchange students add to our knowledge of other lands and peoples, simply by being here. The student council store provides study aids besides offering experience to student managers.

Learning is an involved process, and as we all know, deserves a recess. The faculty occasionally enjoys a tea before their meetings, and the students take a break at lunch time. All of our learning finally results not only in securing a diploma, but in increased knowledge.

This routine, led by Joe Hodak, is a regular one every fourth period in the cafeteria.

The Student Council Store, operated by Ray Weaver and Bob Pearce, does a steady business every fourth period.

Assemblies Break

Our regular schedule is often altered throughout the year to accommodate a variety of assemblies. Most are educational, but some are for entertainment. Each year the game warden, Mr. Hertz, reminds us of our need for safety during hunting season. The music department has an annual Christmas assembly to add to the season's spirit. Pep assemblies and sports events also supplement our regular activities, while the Varsity club arranges Varsity-Faculty basketball and softball games as special features.

Administration and Faculty

Marion Center is fortunate to have an experienced and loyal administration and teaching staff. In the beginning years of our system (1916-1917) at the East Mahoning Marion Center Joint High School, the students could benefit from the instruction of only one teacher, Mr. Harry Crawford, who also acted as principal. By the time the brick building of seven rooms was erected in 1929, five teachers were employed. As the attendance increased, more teachers became a necessity; and with the opening of the new building in 1955, with 29 classrooms, library, locker rooms, storage rooms, and gym, the faculty numbered forty-one. Today, we have a total of 54 members in our professional staff.

With the opening of the new Marion Center Joint High School in 1955, a cafeteria staff, a guidance department, secretarial services, and a health department were instituted. Miss Barbara Zugates was the first cafeteria manager, and now heads a staff of ten. Mr. Ralph Hoover became the first of today's four member guidance department. Until Miss Mary Lou Haer became the first full time secretary-clerk in 1955, the secretarial work was done voluntarily by students. At the present time, however, there are three full time secretaries.

Also, in the early days of our system, there were no school nurses; health services were supplied by the state. The school employed its first full time nurse in 1955. Today, Marion Center Area Schools employ two full time nurses: Mrs. Doris Bush, and Mrs. Helen Moore.

This continued growth and improved training of our administration and faculty have contributed greatly to the constant progress of our school.

HI MEMORIES

Our Leader

Mr. William A. McCreery, a teacher and school administrator in the Marion Center school system for 42 years, retired as supervising principal July 1, 1967.

He first joined the professional staff here in 1925 as a teacher in the Marion Center — East Mahoning High School. Previously he earned his bachelor of science degree at Westminster College.

Three years later, Mr. McCreery became high school principal, and later, supervising principal before the system was reorganized as the Marion Center Joint School District in 1955. He has continued to serve as supervising principal since that time. During this time he did graduate work at Pennsylvania State University, and at the University of Pittsburgh, receiving his master of education degree from the latter institution in 1941.

MR. WILLIAM A. McCREERY

Supervising Principal of Marion Center Area Schools

A Dedicated Career

During Mr. McCreery's years here he has seen and has been instrumental in many changes in the educational program in the community. These changes may aptly be termed progress, which touches upon seven major areas, namely: the augmented administrative staff, the much more comprehensive curriculum; the greatly enlarged physical plant; the increased enrollment; the growth, both in size and in instructional preparation, of the professional staff; the greatly expanded athletic program, and the wider interests of our student body as demonstrated by the many extra-curricular activities.

Mr. McCreery is living in Indiana and has more time to relax and to enjoy the farm which he owns; to extend his travels which were curtailed by the demands of his position as supervising principal; and to pursue a favorite hobby of his — that of photography.

Draws To A Close

The annual banquet of the Marion Center Area Educational Association was focused on honoring Mr. McCreery. Special guests included Dr. Ralph C. Swan, executive secretary P.S.E.A., who had the principal address of the evening; Miss Martha McCreery and Mrs. Zilpha Fitzgerald, sisters of Mr. McCreery; Mr. William Norman, former county superintendent; and Mr. Lingenfelter, former high school principal.

The teachers of the area presented Mr. McCreery with a chair to help make his retirement more comfortable.

Marion Center Area School Board

The Marion Center Area School Board meets the second Monday of each month under the leadership of Mr. Charles L. Wiggins, president. The members are William G. Satterlee, Earl C. Bence, Clair Armstrong, John Nesbit, Hubert Reed*, Charles L. Wiggins, Leroy Wood, Harold Dilts, Clair Barbor, R. P. Winebark, and William A. McCreery, supervising principal. (S. C. Academic

The curriculum at Marion Center has undergone many changes, and is ever progressing. In its early years, only one curriculum was followed: academic. This was due to the fact that only those who were interested in furthering their education attended high school. The courses offered included Algebra I and II, four years of English, Social Studies and Science, and two years of Latin.

This program remained much the same until about 1930, when Spanish was added under the direction of Mr. Raymond Munnel. In 1938 the Vocational Agriculture and Commercial courses were instituted marking the first major variation from the primarily academic curriculum. In 1939, Homemaking was established, and in 1940, the first full time music teacher was hired. Spanish was dropped when Mr. Munnel went to the service in 1945, and when he returned, so little interest was shown that it was discontinued entirely. The years 1946 and 1947 marked the advent of the first regular boys' Physical Education program when Mr. Graham Baskin joined our faculty.

Many new programs were introduced in 1955. Some of these were Guidance, Special Education, Art, and Industrial Arts. The first full time librarian was also added in 1955.

Driver Education was instituted in 1953; and as of this year, Driver Education theory is compulsory for sophomores.

Some of the latest additions to the curriculum are the accelerated academic program, organized in 1961, and the Remedial Reading and Remedial Physical Education which came under the Pennsylvania State Legislature Reorganization Act.

PERIODIC TABLE OF THE ELEMENTS

Students Learn to Communicate

Many times we attempt to communicate to others without success; but through the skills we learn in the Language Arts, we are better equipped to convey our thoughts and ideas.

The experience and knowledge gained in these classes give us confidence in speaking before groups, and a personal satisfaction in mastering these useful skills.

Mrs. Stitt uses the tape recorder to help Clair Hayes and James Hammond improve their oral reading.

Mrs. Theda Lightcap's English class benefits from the use of the overhead projector.

Left, oral exercises in translating and speaking French enable Sheila Weave and Robert Moretti to make steady progress in French II.

Mr. Wilmer Wood discusses book reports with Katie Hershberger, Carol Wallace, and Brenda Mumau.

Friday morning devotions are the responsibility of the Public Speaking Department. Mrs. Olive Nichol and three regular assistants — Glen Beatty, Dennis Park, and Charles Mock — advise Vada Heberling as she practices.

We Gain by

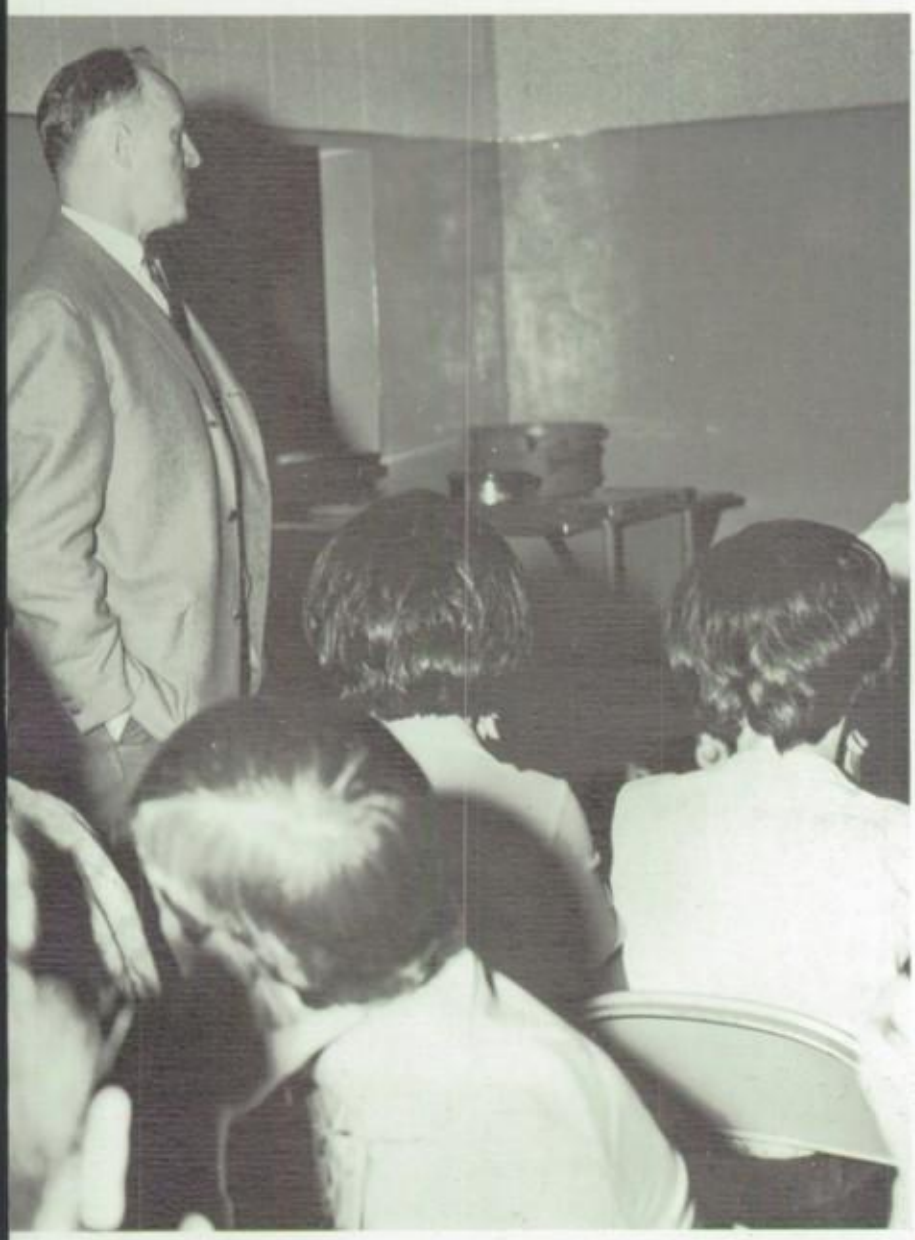
Below, Frank Smith and Thomas McLaughlin assist Mr. Richard Miller, P.O.D. instructor, with audio-visual equipment.

Robert Ramage displays intense concentration as he takes the Air Force test.

Dan Gernandt, Peggy Lydick, and Leo Bernard watch intently as Mr. August Pompelia point out interesting periods in our presidential history.

Knowledge of Others



John R. Coulson, the Assistant Superintendent of Indiana County Schools, speaks to the seniors graduating from Civil Defense class.

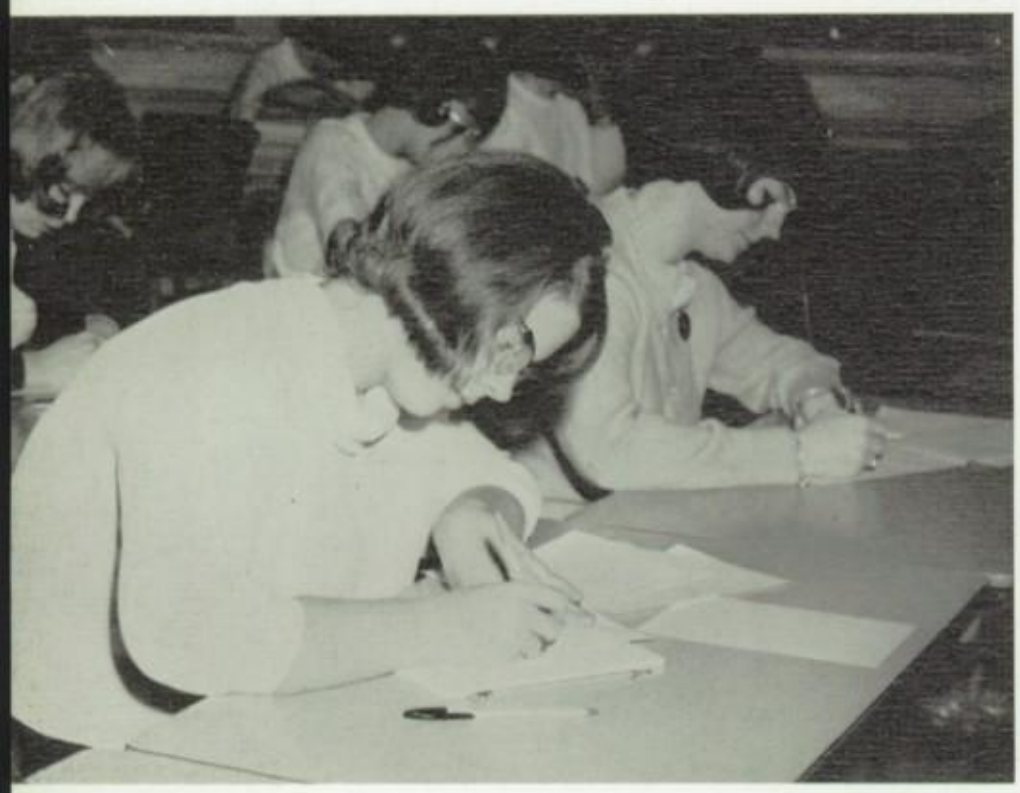
Understanding is a basic endeavor of high school. Each graduate should have upon graduation a basic understanding of the world and his fellow inhabitants. History, Civil Defense, and extracurricular services, such as the Armed Forces Day, help us to understand the part we play in our national community. Psychology and the health program assist us in gaining a knowledge of ourselves and of others, and how to live healthy, fruitful lives. Through these channels, high school aims to enable us to successfully enter the adult world.

Mrs. Doris Bush, our school nurse, conducts eye examinations yearly. Steve Fairman is being tested while Thomas Bernard, Doug Snyder, Larry Fleck, Harry Wilmoth, Fred Mitchell, and Alan Lezanic await their turn.

Some Classes

Right, Cheryl Gaston, a commercial student, focuses her attention on typing.

Below, Vada Heberling and Sherry Smith develop their skill in shorthand as Mrs. Williams dictates.



The girls' gym classes were introduced to a lively new sport this year — football. As it gave them an opportunity to escape the regular school routine, the game was a great success.

Require Exact Skills

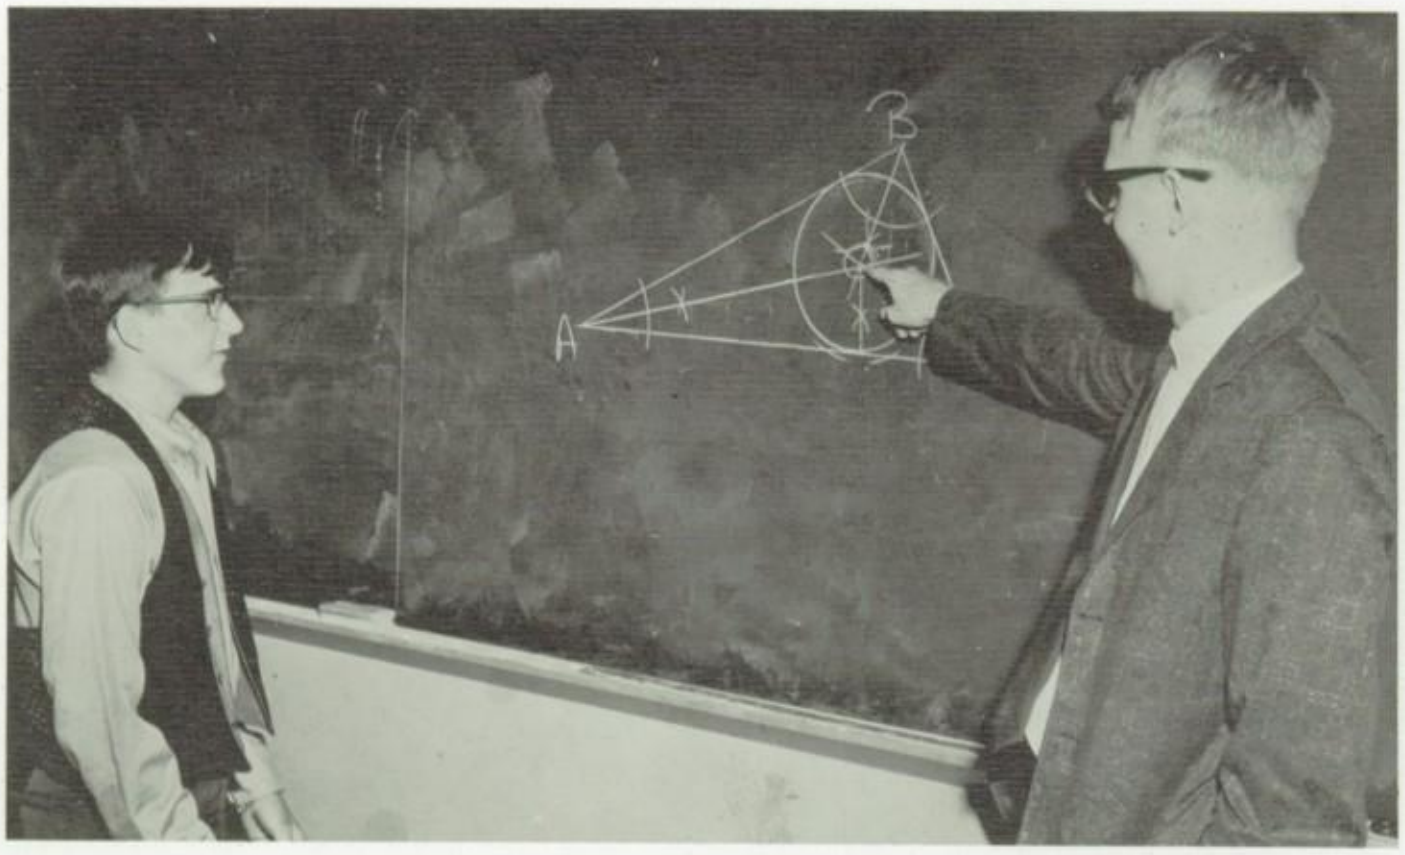
Mr. Keith Bloom examines a sample band uniform with the help of John Hastings and Dennis Lockard.

Mr. Bain Palmer's ninth grade class display their talents in pencil drawings of still life.

Certain classes require specific skills. For example, shorthand and typing require an alert mind as well as nimble fingers, while gym helps to develop co-ordination of the body. The music, art, and driver's education programs are set up quite largely for the enjoyment and the benefit of the students.

Mr. Ted Holtz waits for Carmen Gett to show the girls, Dorothy Adams, Florence Banks, and Maureen Streams, how to change a tire.

Value Lies



Mr. Ray Gabler explains a plane geometry problem that has perplexed Leon Bernard.

Bill Hallman, Harold Frantz, Sharon Fry, Betty Baker, and Ruth Baker listen attentively as Mrs. Carole Ling explains the biology bulletin board.

in Application

Chuck Barr, Donald Shank, and Kenny Adams show interest in painting the toys they made in shop class.

Sometimes we study subjects in school which we feel we will have little use for in our future lives. Agriculture, Home Economics and Shop classes are not in this group. Their prime value is their practicality. General Mathematics, Biology, etc., are basic for our everyday lives. As we grow older, Home Economics and Shop, as well as Vocational Agriculture, will prove to be valuable assets to those who have pursued them in high school.

Cider making captivates Mr. Robert Steffy and his agriculture class.

Baking muffins provides pleasure for first semester home economic students, Phyllis Reeger and Laura Shellhammer.

Organizations

Organizations at Marion Center play a most important part in our everyday lives. Not only do they provide a break from our rigorous scholastic routine, but they also expose us to new and enlightening experiences.

Some of our clubs are very old, while others are relatively new. Our instrumental organizations have been active in some facet or other since an orchestra was first organized in 1925. Future Teachers of America and Camera Club, two very active groups, were both created in 1955. 1948 Marked the advent of a Varsity Club, and in 1956 the first junior chorus.

Our other courses have been rather constant figures in our fifty-year history, due perhaps to the fact that singing requires little investment, just interest and talent. Librarians Club was organized in 1956. The same year the student body drew up a constitution, and in 1956-57 we elected our first student council. W. W. II initiated our Red Cross Club and the Future Nurses Chapter was inaugurated in 1955.

Throughout the years clubs have come and gone. Some disappear only to reappear at a later date. One example of this is the Sophomore Dramatics Club which the present graduating class revived in 1964.

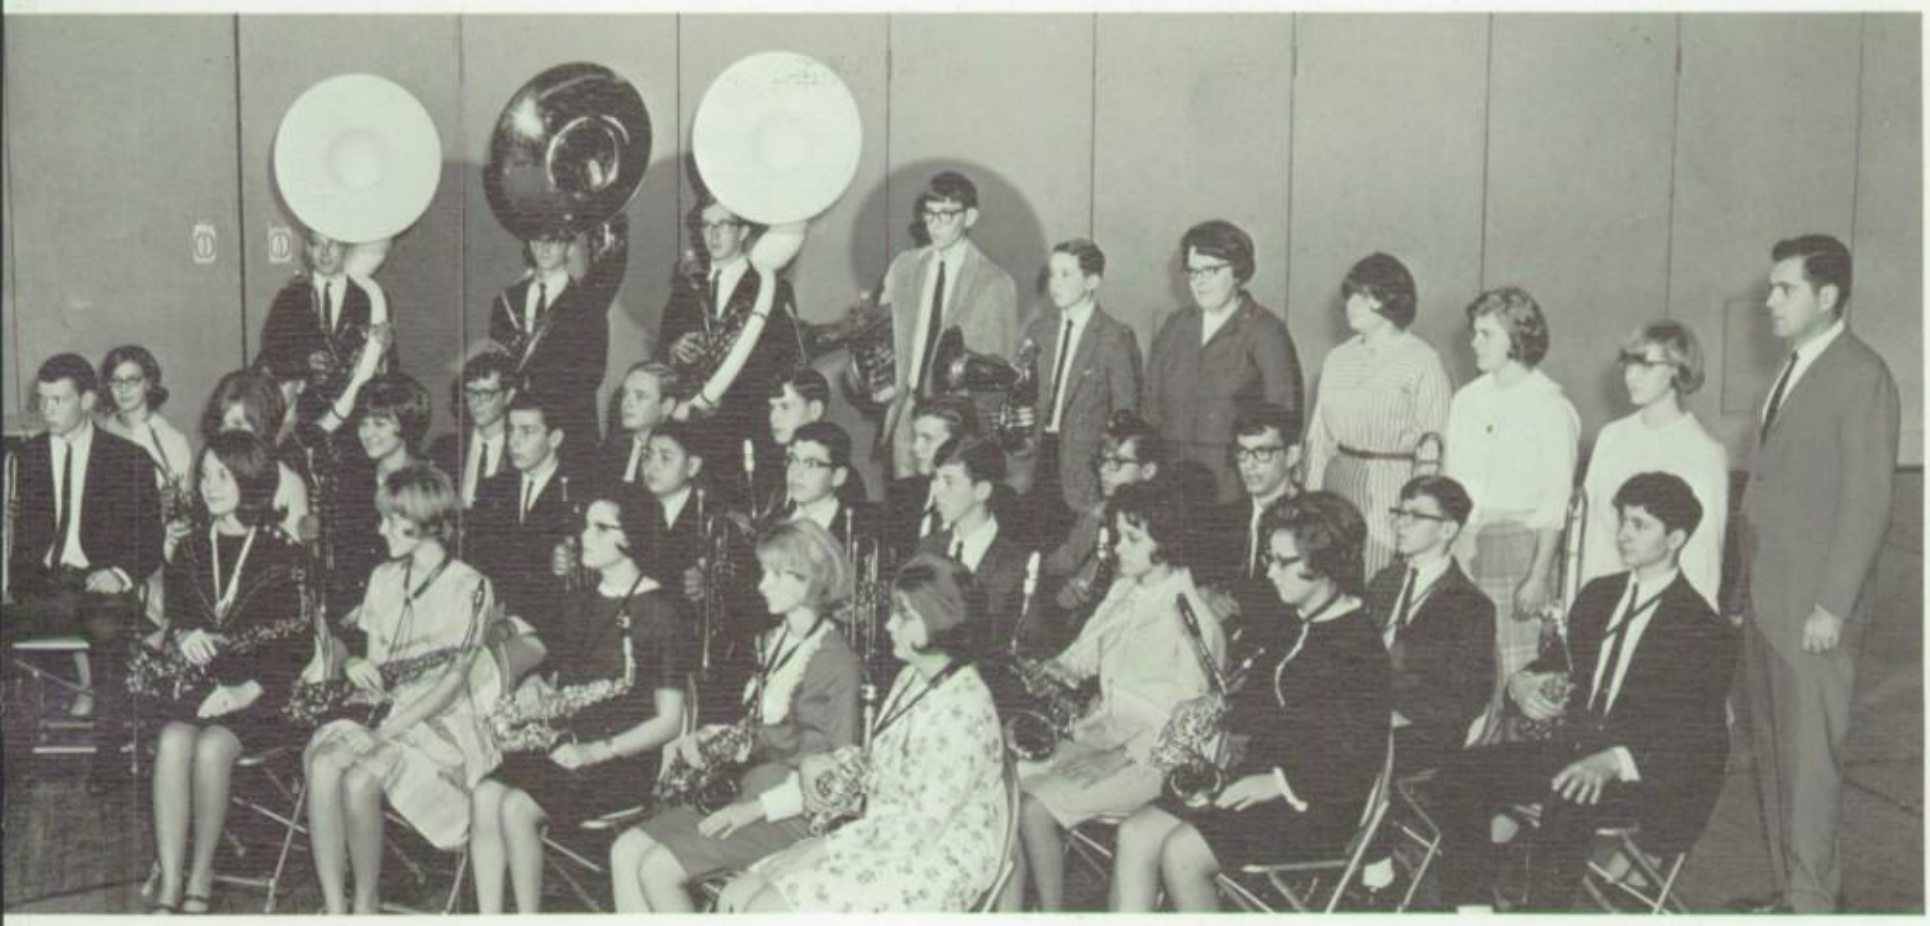
Regardless of their name or function, the purpose of our organizations remains the same: to enlighten, to enliven and to enrich our high school lives.

Music Inspires

One of the highlights of the year for the M.C. Concert Band is the Spring Concert directed by Mr. Keith Bloom. Twelve members were chosen from this group for County Band: Sharon Glasser, Kathy Huber, Mary Lezanic, Dennis Lockard, William McMillen, Kerry Mears, Elaine Oberlin, Robert Pearce, David Schurr, Mary Salerno, Kathyanne Warren, and Clifford Watson.

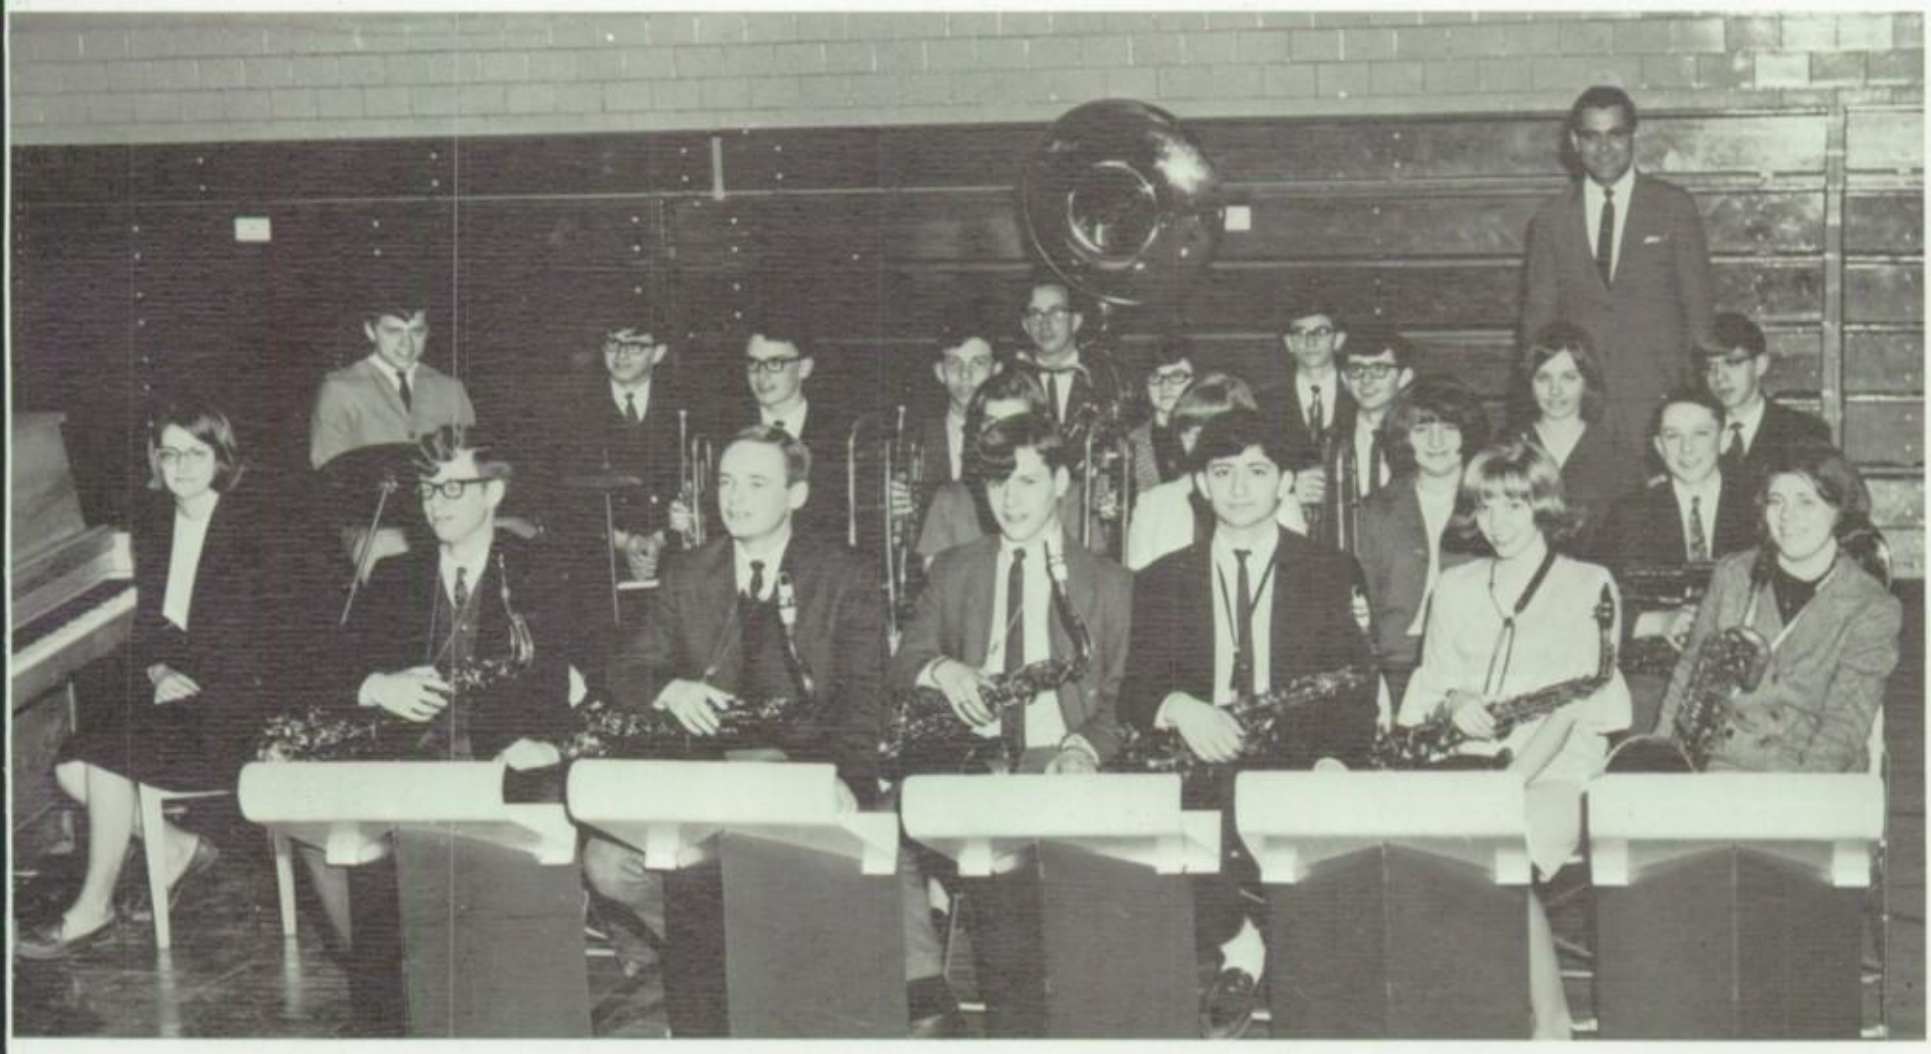
The Senior Band Majorettes Monica Klyap, Judith Hastings, Deborah Fairman, Vicki Fairman, Margaret Lydic, Janice Eckenrod, Pamela Welch, captain; Delores Lezanic, and Karin Broskin, represented Marion Center in the fourth annual majorette contest March 31, where they placed third.

Our Students



A further selection of students was made for District Band: Nancy Elder, Kathyanne Warren, and Dennis Lockard.

The final choice of members to attend the Regional (State) Band included only two persons; Dennis W. Lockard and Kathyanne Warren.



A talented group of students who are keenly interested in music comprise the Marion Center Dance Band. They are: Timothy Bush, James Burns, Donald Thompson, Robert Moretti, Cynthia Fairman, Kathyanne Warren, Kathy Huber, Norma Spence, Darlene Roof, Sharon Sourwine, William McMillen, John Hastings, Allen Lezanic, Nancy Elder, Kerry Mears, Glenda Gahagan, Keith Kohlhepp, Dennis Lockard, Thomas Feather, Clifford Watson, Gary Huber, and Mr. Keith Bloom, director.

Marching Band

The outstanding event of the year for the Marion Center Area Marching Band was the inaugural parade held in Harrisburg, January 17, 1967. Mr. Keith Bloom is the band director.

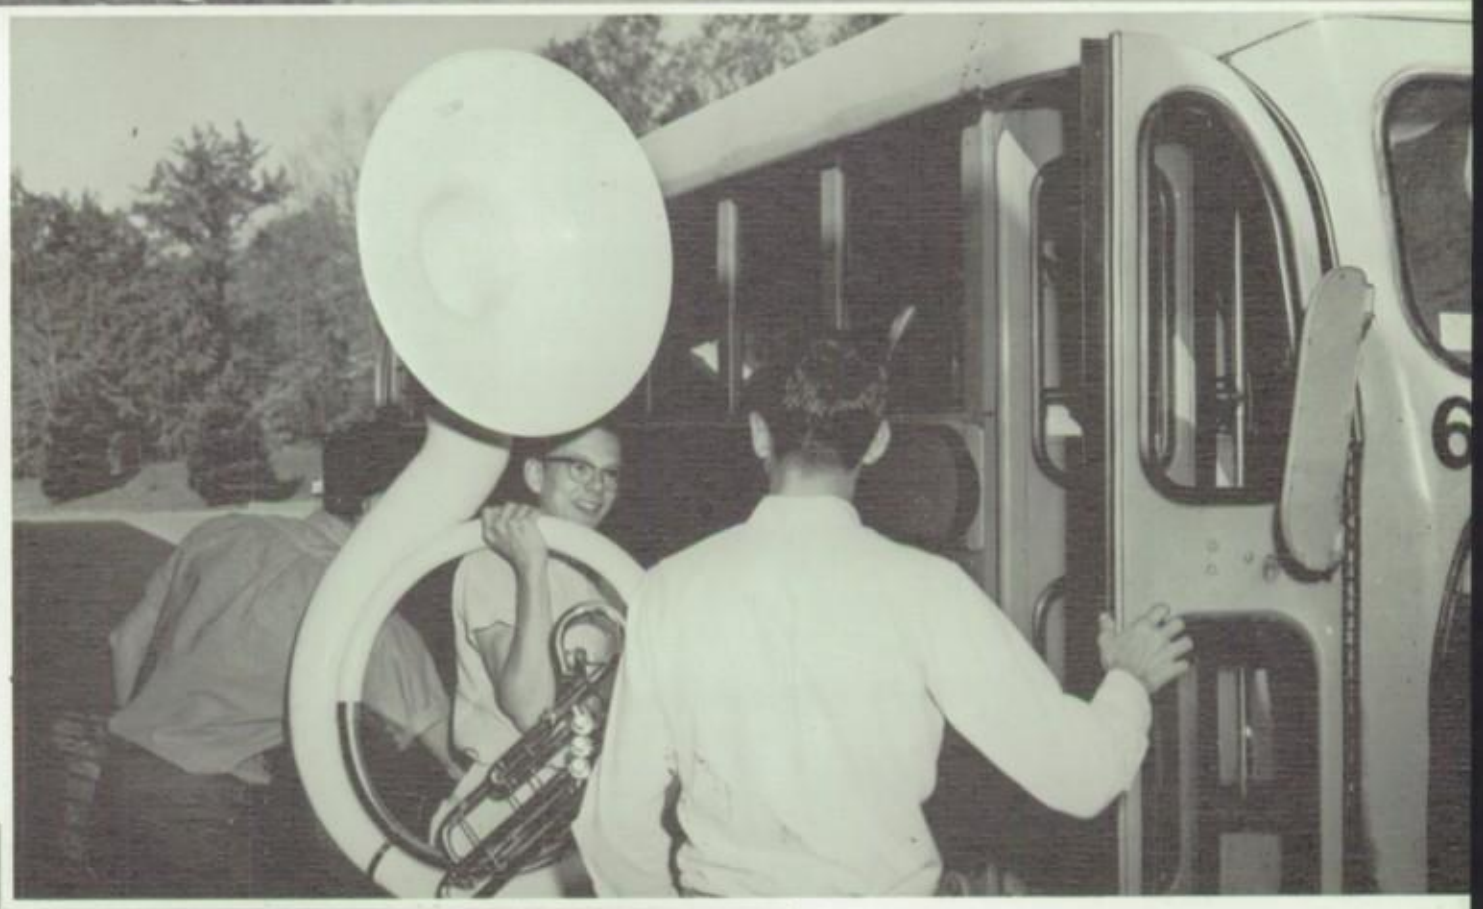
Strives For Top Honors

Summer is the busiest time of the year for the marching band. They are constantly on the move; practicing and preparing for their many parades and competitions. Consequently, success is quite evident in their record. They have placed first at each parade they've competed in for the last two years. An added sparkle for the summer of 1967 will be new uniforms which will arrive July 30.



Cliff Watson, Terry Roof and Allen Lezanic, senior band members, board the bus for a parade.

Musical Talents

Providing entertainment for various school functions, as well as appearing annually on the WDAD Cancer Show, keeps the Folk Group quite busy. The members are Dan Miller, guitar accompanist, Terry Roof, Kerry Mears, Nancy Elder, William Farmery, Dorothy McClelland, Tom McLaughlin and John Hastings.

An unusual effect was created at our annual Christmas program by the Marionettes consisting of Elaine Oberlin, Cheryl Edwards, Susan Cherry, Kathy Huber, Nancy Elder, and Glenda Gahagan.

In addition to various community events, the M.C. Four participated in the annual talent show. These four talented vocalists are Terry Roof, Kerry Mears, Tom McLaughlin and John Hastings.

The ringing voices of M.C.'s Mixed Chorus are heard in many school functions. They are under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Wellen.

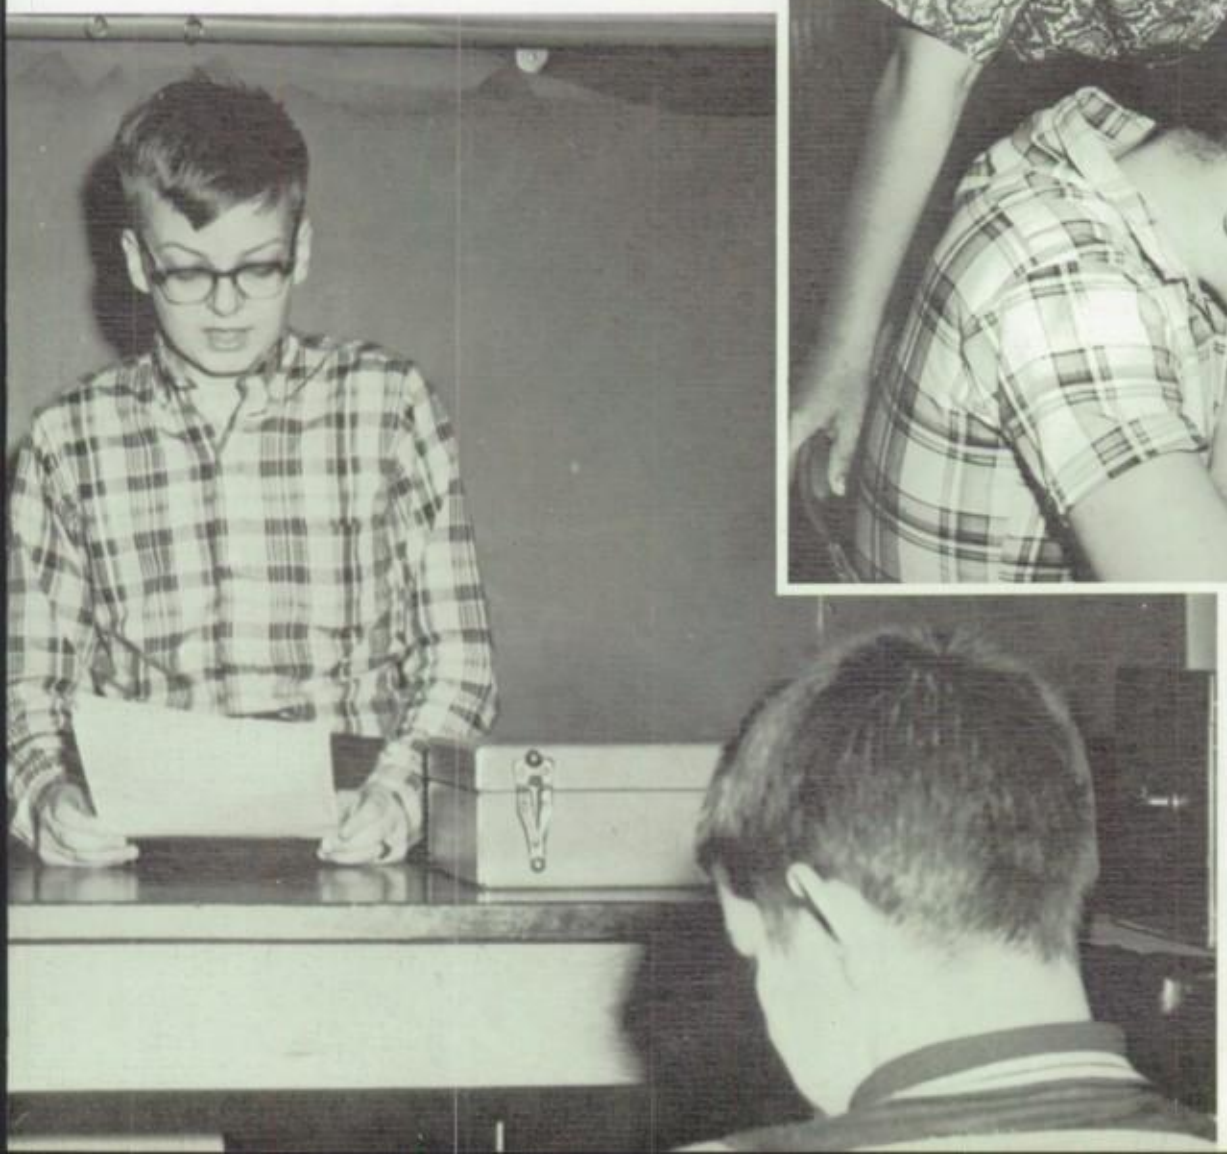
Playing chess requires skill as these junior high boys have discovered. Kenny Adamson and Dwayne Marshall are playing chess while Albert Nanni and John Kline watch them.



Junior Geography Club, sponsored by Mr. Edward Nealer, made a study of the Caribbean Islands for their club program. Billy Steele listens as Gary Heberling reads his report.

Organizing the annual Heart Fund drive is one of the many tasks confronting this year's Future Nurses. Helping with the '67 fund campaign are Debbie Nichol, Connie Fairman, Marilyn Heberling, Nancy Shultz, and Iva Huey.

By keeping a progress record, Marilyn Heberling, Connie Fairman, Kathleen Kinter, and Debbie Nichol chart the monthly development of a baby.

The Marion Center area has benefitted greatly from the joint efforts of F.N.A. and Junior Red Cross. These clubs helped the Blood Mobile personnel net a total of 96 pints of blood. The Future Nurses canvassed Marion Center to raise money for the Heart Fund while Junior Red Cross members made valentine treats for the Indiana Hospital. Both clubs deserve commendation for excellence in community service.

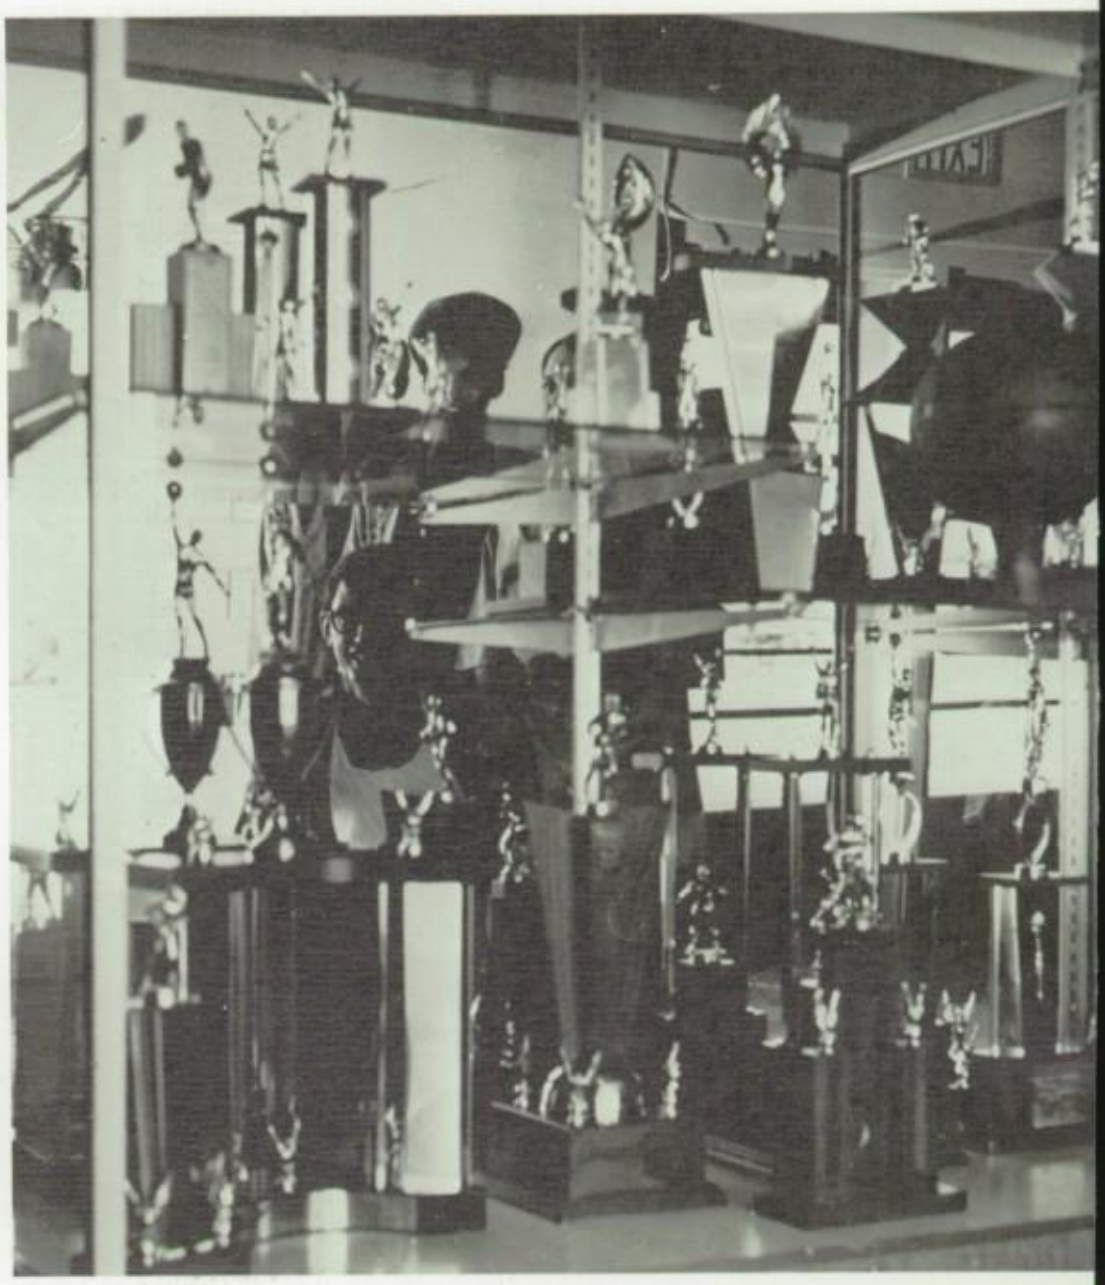
in Club Events.

The Members of this year's Varsity Club tackled the problem of revising their constitution. Discussing the needed changes are Mr. August Pompelia, sponsor; and Casey Moore, president.

Dan Zbur, Peggy Elder, Jan McQuiston, Judy Knapp, Janice Eckenrod, Judy Hastings, and Paul Lingenfelter, members of French Club, performed the traditional Can-Can for the enjoyment of everyone at the Spring Fling.

At this year's convention, the Western Central Pennsylvania Association of Student Council (W.C.P.A.S.C.) President's Plaque was transferred by Delores Lezanic to a representative of Jenner-Boswell High School.

The student council sponsored a bundle drive in which each homeroom was asked to fill a large bag with good, second-hand clothing. The school filled approximately seventy bags which are being loaded to be shipped to the Save the Children Federation in Tennessee.



Pride is shown in the reflection of the student council officers in the mirror backing the new trophy case. This case, which occupies the gym lobby, was bought by the student council with funds contributed by the classes of 1961, 1964, and 1965. Edward Moore, vice-president; Linda Romanie, secretary; and Dorothy McClelland, treasurer; were present when the delivery was made.

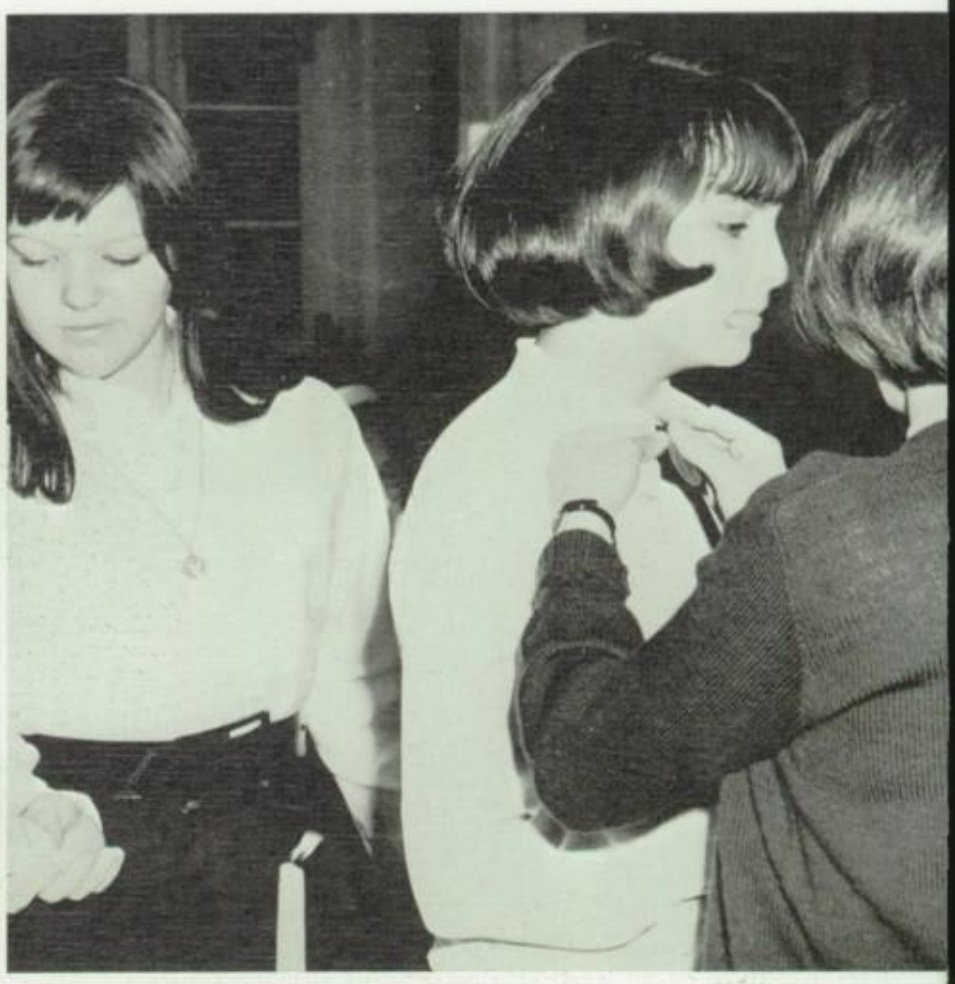
Carol Bernardo and Bronwen Gernandt, staff members, are lettering headlines for the bi-weekly issue of the Yellow Jacket.

Help Choose Futures

The officers of the F.T.A. conduct the induction ceremony. Betsy Belardinelli, vice president; Ron Hood, president; Dot McClelland, librarian; and Jim Burns, parliamentarian; lead the candle lighting ceremony.



Each year new students are inducted into the F.T.A. organization. Sandra Kinter and Cindy Kinter receive their initiation pins from Carol Bernardo.

College Club members look through college catalogues to secure information about various colleges. And Assist In Library

As a Christmas project the Librarians decided to be Christmas Angels to a family in the community. Dennis Lockard, Cheryl Stenman, Sharon Lockhart and Kathy Warren prepare gifts to be sent to the family.

Shirley Smith and Vada Heberling co-operate with Mrs. Aul in readying new books and magazines for student use.

Cindy Fairman, president of the Librarians Club, presents Mr. McCreery with a book, Everything but Money, by Sam Levison.

Clubs Strive for

Every fourth period finds Camera Club members awaiting their respective assignments. Casey Moore appoints Tom Bernard and Doug Snyder to the task of printing necessary pictures.

Choosing negatives carefully, Tom Bernard and Doug Snyder prepare to print pictures for Centerama.

Attentive faces are exhibited as Camera Club listens to Mr. Tomb from Cover Studio. Each year Mr. Tomb speaks to the club and endeavors to answer questions and to give advice on photography.

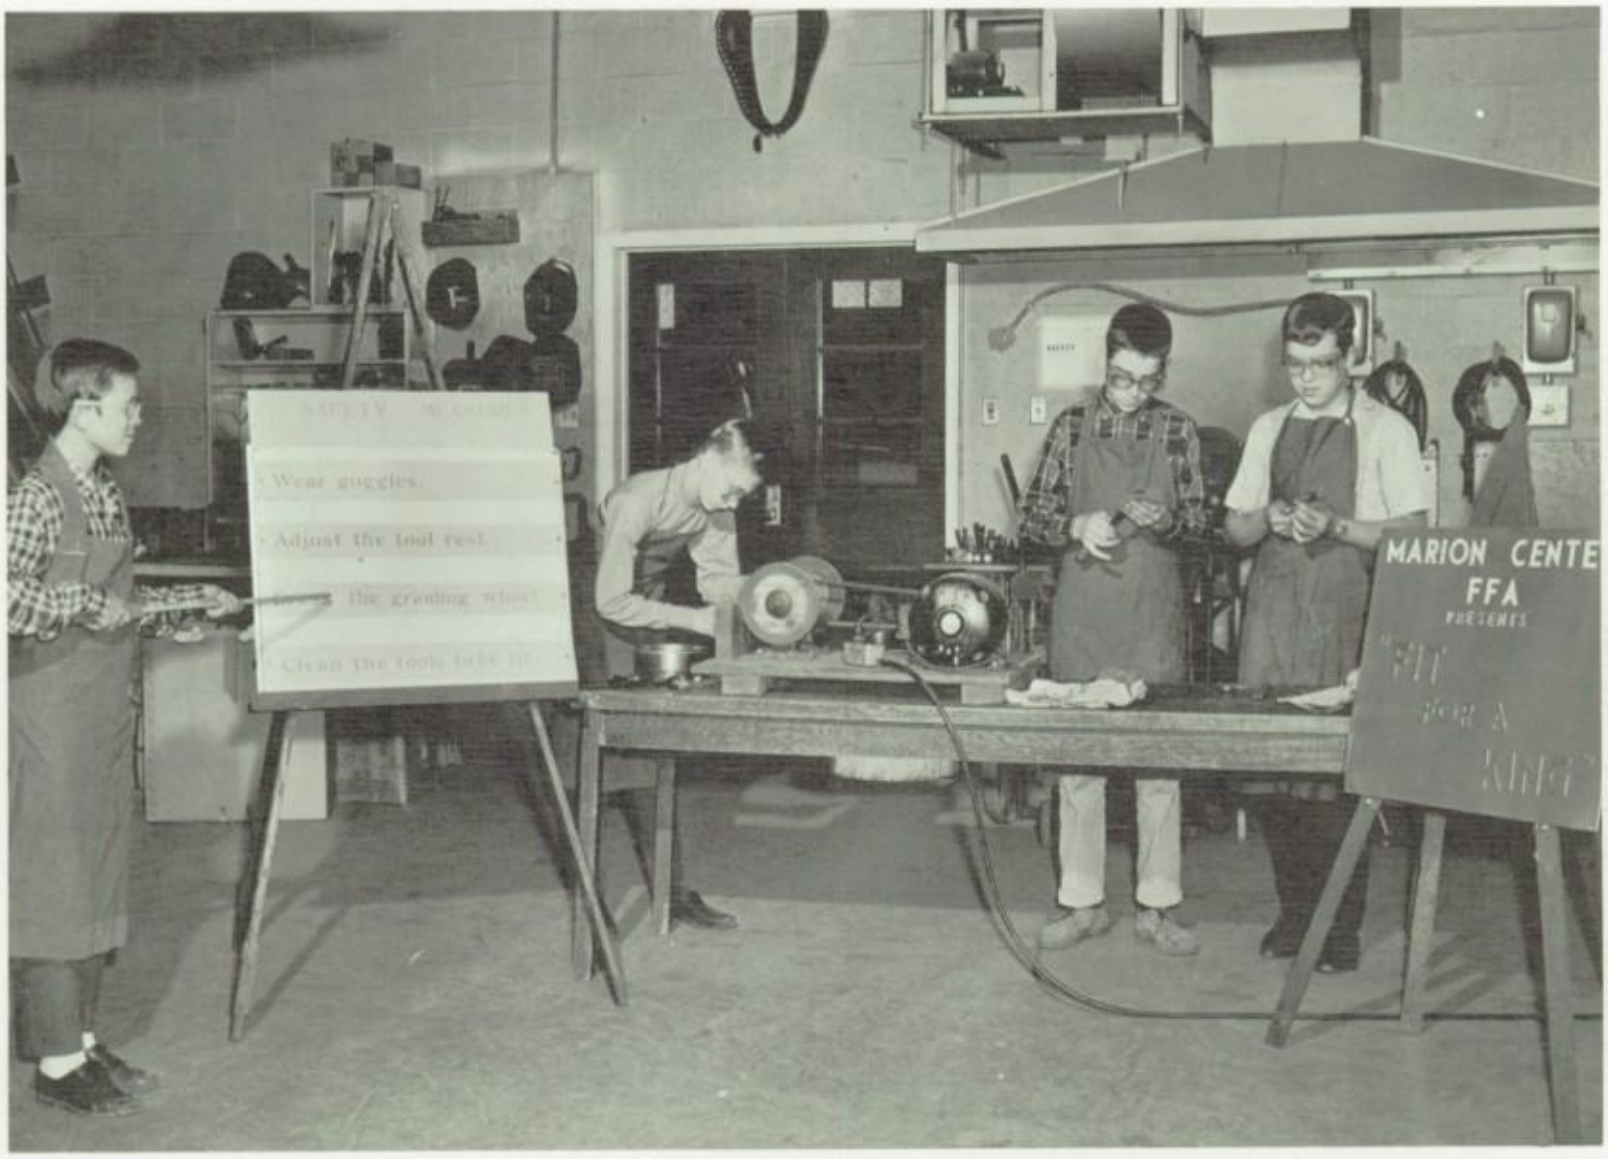
Results

A committee under the supervision of Mrs. Maxine Bieber discuss plans for a Spring Fling booth. Leora Streams, Lois White, and Darla Armstrong contribute ideas.

Karen Miller, president of Junior F.H.A., uses her gavel in an attempt to get the attention of club members Sharon Lockhart, Patty Beresnyak, and Becky Sheesley.

Cookies are a special treat when baked by Leora Streams, this year's winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award. Leora scored highest in our school on a standardized test given by the General Foods Corporation.

Young Farmers



These Marion Center F.F.A. members, who demonstrated safety measures in handling shop equipment, won first place and $50 in the State Farm Show in Harrisburg this year. They are Kenneth Getty, Edward Gahagan, Daniel Griffith, and Raymond Martin.

Constructing farm machinery is one of the projects in vocational agriculture. Eugene Marshall is being instructed by Mr. Robert Steffy concerning the correct procedure in welding machinery with an acetylene torch.

Vocational Agriculture was instituted at Marion Center High School in 1938, but it was not until 1939 that the F.F.A. chapter was chartered. It is a National Organization for boys studying Agriculture through which all the activities of the department are conducted.

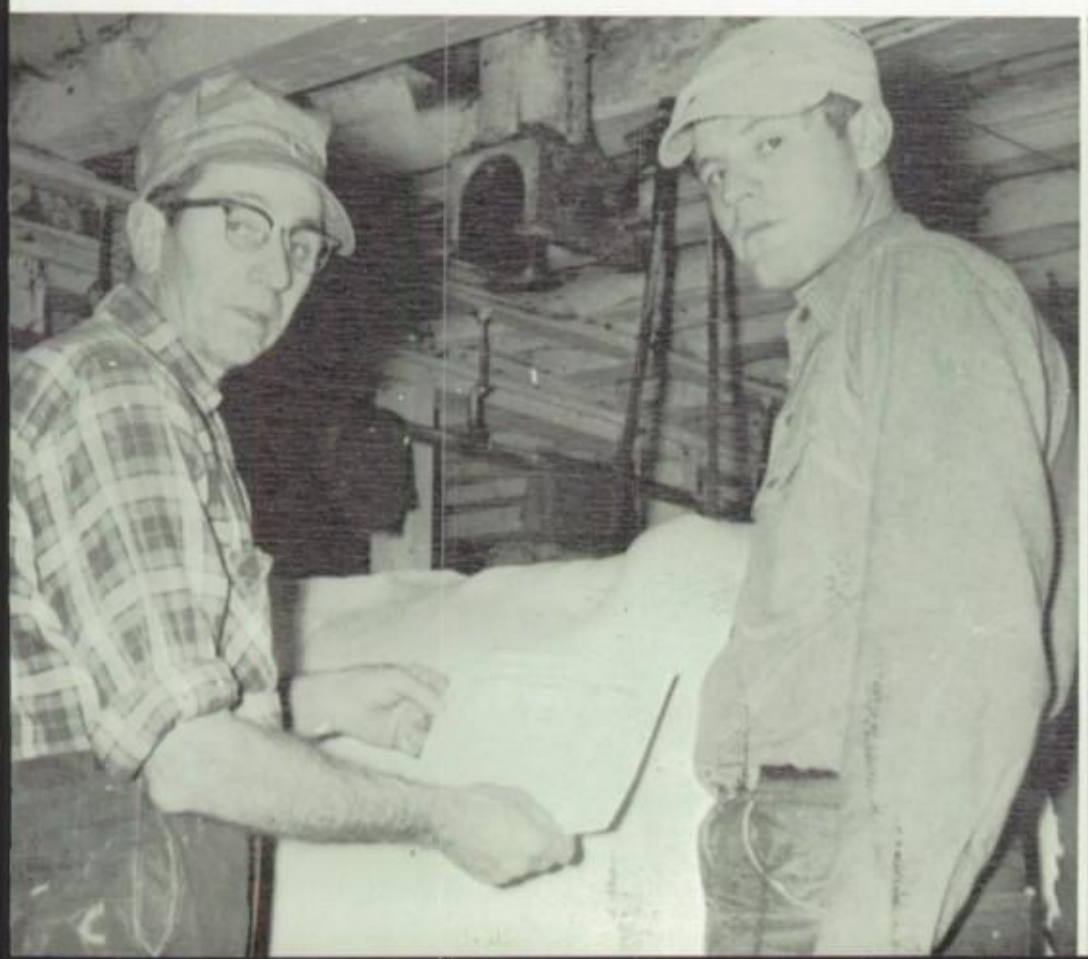
It is a very active organization and each year delegates are sent to the National F.F.A. convention at Kansas City, Missouri, in October; to the State Convention in Harrisburg during the State Farm Show; and to F.F.A. activities week at the Pennsylvania State University in June.

Continue Progress

Young Farmers was organized in 1946, but had no actual instructor until 1953. By this means young adult farmers continue their education in agriculture and develop community leadership. The group became state affiliated in 1957; three of its members, Jay B. Dilts, Eugene Thompson, and Dale Kohlhepp, are state officers. Mr. Thompson serves as state president, and Dale Kohlhepp and Mr. Dilts are both vice-presidents.

Andy Baker, a Keystone farmer, and his father, Mr. Edward Baker, work together to install new conservation practices on their farm. Mr. James L. Cook is the Young Farmer teacher.

Emmett and Robert Meyers, a father-son partnership, hosted the 7th annual F.F.A. dairy cow judging contest this year. They hold registration papers for a cow which has seven generations of offspring in Mr. Myers' herd.



Ronald and Joseph Monoskey, both graduates of Marion Center maintain a brother partnership in the operation of their 300 acre dairy farm. This farm produces over 360,000 pounds of milk annually. Joe is an American farmer — the highest degree awarded by the F.F.A.

"The High School Mystery"

Dramatics Is Encouraged

A successful performance takes much hard work. Many hours go into diligent practice and preparation. Selecting the play and the cast are just beginnings, and a good director realizes that a big part of any production is done backstage by the stage-crew, prompters, and make-up personnel. When the director has successfully coordinated all these groups and the cast is finally ready, the order is given to "raise the curtain."

Miss Judith Skubis, Mrs. Maxine Wellen, Mr. Richard Miller, and Miss Carolyn Barbor discuss possibilities for future productions at M.C.A.H.S. These teachers are responsible for the first-rate performances which are presented to the student body.

Spanish Serenade —

The Men of Note with vocalist Mr. Keith Bloom comprise one of the highlights of the Junior-Senior Prom, providing romantic music until 1:00. When the duties of the prom committee are fulfilled, the parents of the juniors and seniors are responsible for the entertainment for the After Prom Party. This year the Unknown Factor enlivened the early hours of the morning furnishing rock and roll music.

A Successful Evening

Faculty, students, and guests all enjoyed the varied types of dances at the prom. These dances include the "bunny-hop," the "polka," and the "Charleston." At the after-prom party the slow music provided a break from the fast paced modern dances.

Athletics

Progress is a big word in the world of sports, and it is applicable to Marion Center. Our school has four major sports plus the revival of girls' basketball. This is a big change from one sport, basketball, in 1923. The number of coaches has changed from no permanent coach to three varsity and three J.V. coaches. Mr. George Sanders was the first permanent coach from 1928-29. Mr. John Harwick instituted the track team in 1954. More recently, in 1967 baseball was revived after a lapse of three years. The latest sport is wrestling, added in 1956 and coached by Mr. James McGinnis. The school is fortunate to have this sport which is a new addition to high school athletics.

Altogether, sports have played an important part in the growth of the school. It enables us to grow physically as well as mentally and to be proud of our prowess and sportsmanship. Through the years we have won and lost, but our determination and spirit have continued.

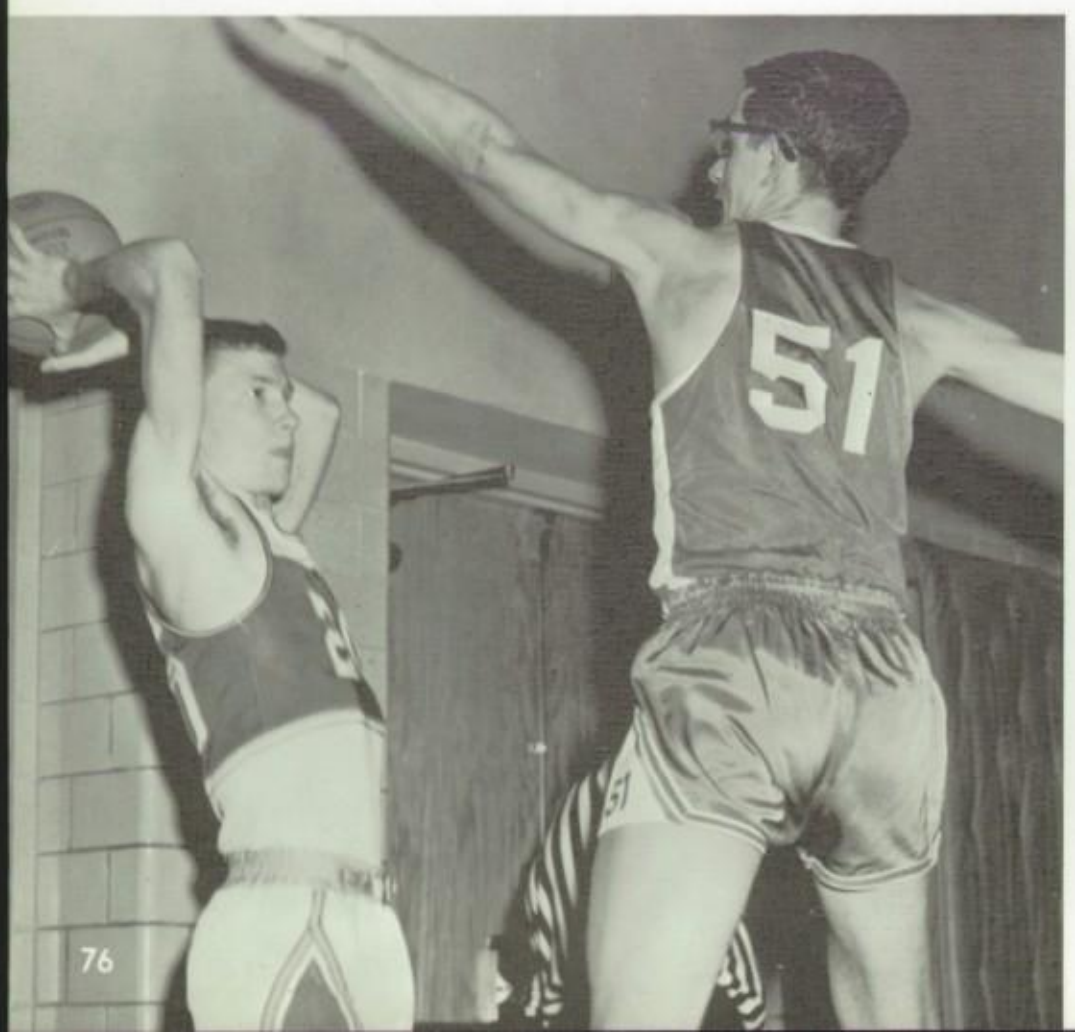
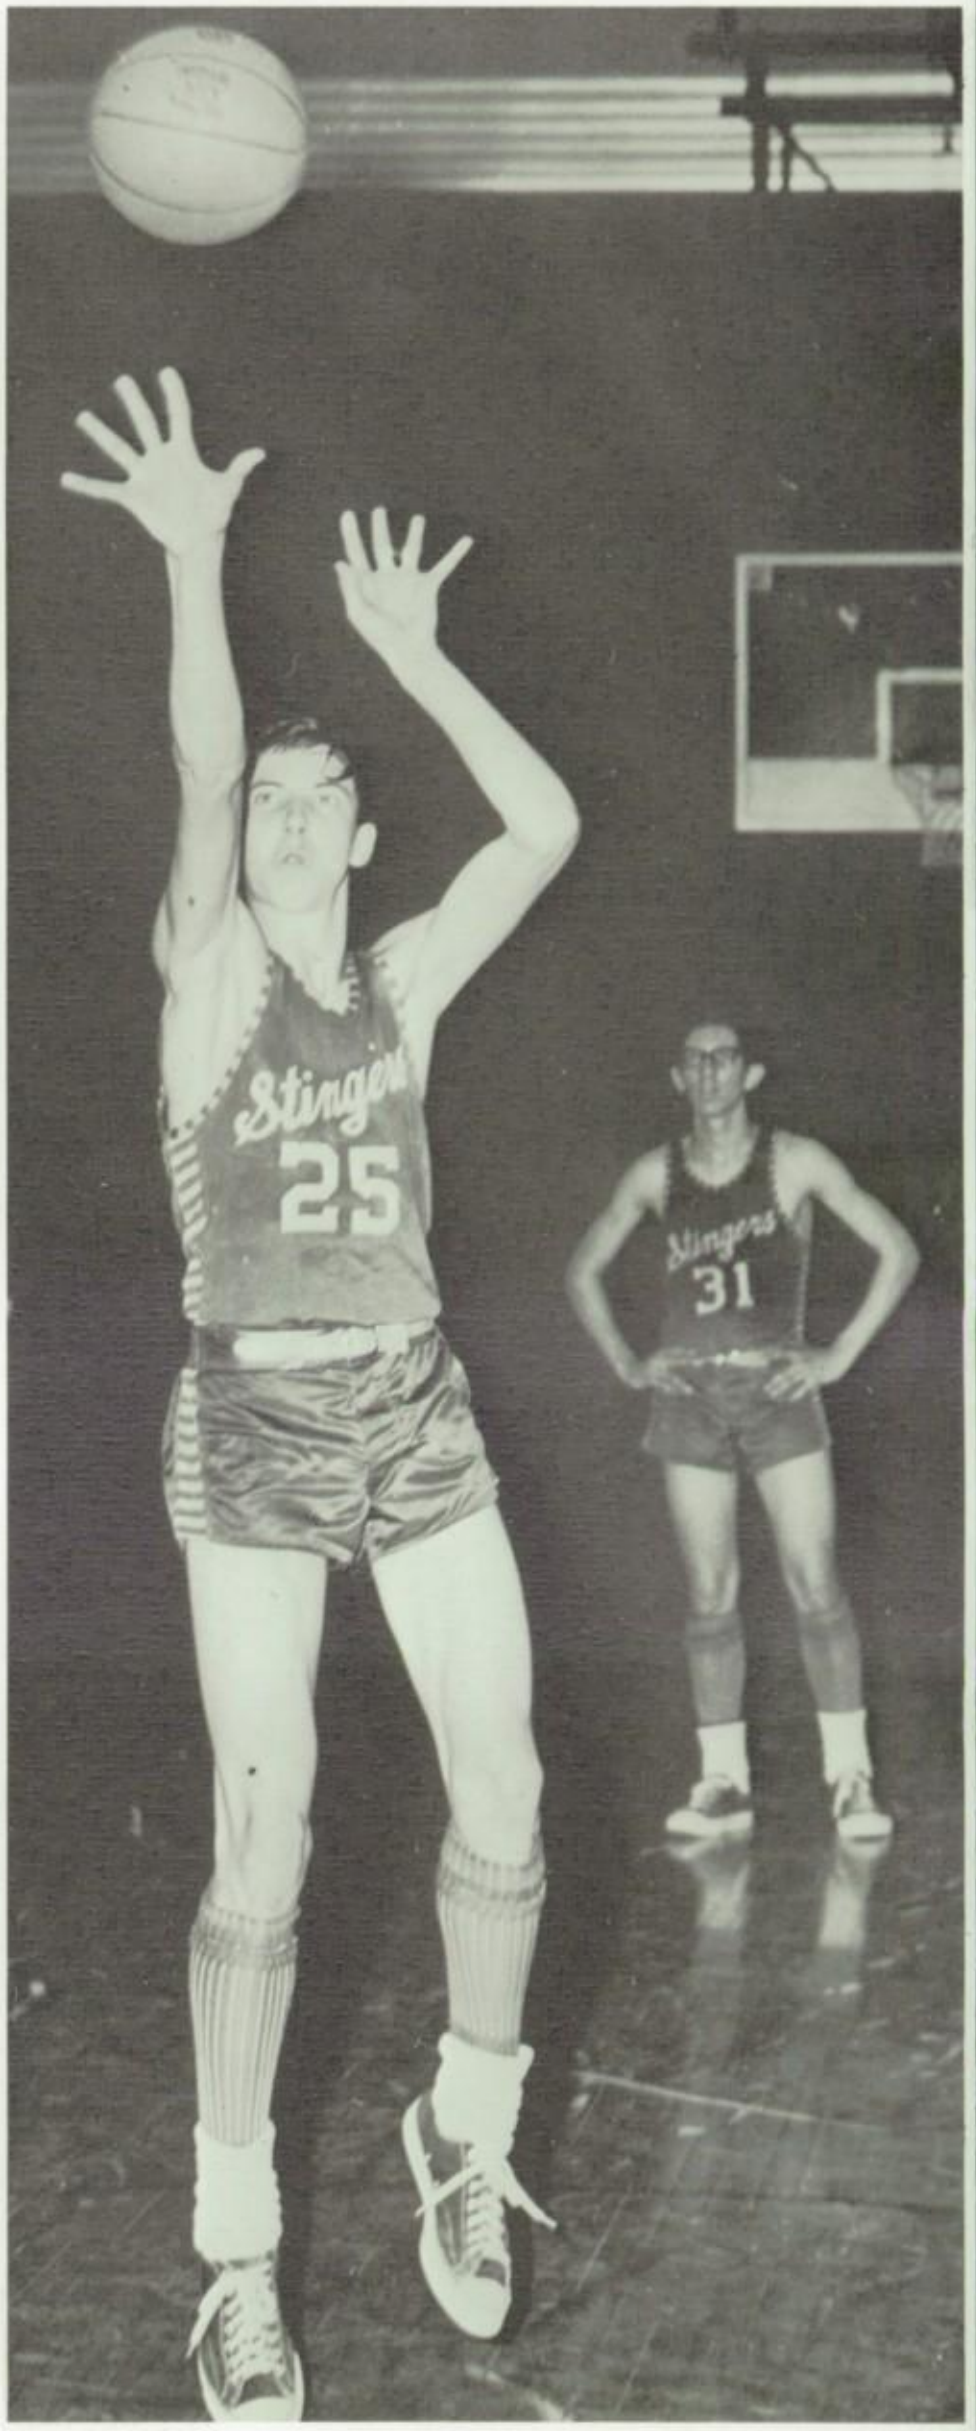
During the first play-off with Punxsutawney, which proved to be successful, Allen Lezanic converts a foul shot as Tom Bernard drops back on defense.

Hustling offense and defense gave the Stingers these two breaks. Ron Bellock shoots on a fast break, and Casey Moore takes out a Penns Manor turn-over.





Tries Hard

Preliminary warm-ups stimulate our M.C. grapplers before each match.

Marion Center's foremost wrestler Frank Fairman, with a school record of 11-1 for the 1966-67 season, represented M.C. and won the Section IV, District 6 contest held February 17-18 at Indiana High School. As a noted 145 lb. wrestler, Frank advanced to the semi-finals of District 6 at Altoona, February 25, where he was decisioned by Reish of Penns Valley.

Underclassmen

The underclassmen are the new members of our school; they are novices in our program. In the existence of our school, underclassmen have virtually changed little, but progress has been made regarding class activities. Freshmen, in the early years of our school, anticipated an initiation program held by the upperclassmen. After enduring this program, they were honored at a banquet given by the seniors. Also, pupils entering the freshman class chose their class motto, flower, and colors, and retained these during their remaining years in high school. Sophomores, in the early years of our school, honored all other classes by sponsoring a wiener roast and a marshmallow toast. Juniors had no prom to plan for, but instead, planned a banquet for the seniors.

Modern day underclassmen, however, have many more activities to plan for and look forward to. At the beginning of the school year, each class elects new officers and individual students make a choice of curriculum. When each class reaches its junior year, its members plan and finance the Junior-Senior Prom. Underclassmen, as such, have changed little through our school's 50 years of progress; however, their opportunities and activities have kept pace with our advancement.

Seniors

During the school's 50 years of existence, approximately 2600 students have graduated. In the early years those students in school attended classes for purely academic purposes. The first graduating class consisted of two seniors: Walter Simpson and Edgar Dawson (1916-1917). As the years passed by, more students became interested in a high school education. By 1928 the number of Marion Center graduates had increased 11 times; there were 22 seniors in this graduating class. During the years of expansion at Marion Center, and the corresponding broadening of the curriculum, students found many areas of interest other than the academic course. New additions were Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics. Senior boys began taking the Agriculture curriculum in 1938, and during the early 1950's many senior girls began studying Home Economics. With this greater variety in curriculum, the school graduated 70 students in 1955. Ten years later, with a curriculum divided into three major areas — Academic, Commercial, and General — 171 seniors graduated. This year the academic curriculum has an enrollment of 50 students, the commercial department 27, and the general course 67, making a total of 144 seniors in the graduating class.
